A Day In The Life Of
The World

By SAUL PETT

Each day, the earth makes a complete turn in the timeless space of the stars in precisely 23 hours, 56 minutes, 4.091 seconds.

In that time, great continents of the world rise, each in its turn, to face the sun and pass from dawn to dusk to yet another dawn. Thus April 4, 1957, came and went, another day ticked off in the life of a planet already four billion years old.

What, one wonders, happens in a single day in the life of the world? What happens to the physical planet itself, to the separate nations, to people, most especially people? Complete answers are impossible but even the possibility of fragments is fascinating. What, then, did the day mean, what did it add, what did it take away?

It meant that on April 4, the world became about a thousand tons heavier as a result of meteoric dust falling through space. Serious? Not at all. The world already weighed an estimated six thousand million million million tons.

It meant that the cloud shrouded peaks of the Himalayas and the Rockies were eroded imperceptibly under the lash of wind and rain. By infinitesimal fractions, coastlines sank and oceans rose and the great glaciers at the top of the world were warming in the first days of summer light and the great glaciers at the bottom of the world were hardening in the first days of winter twilight.

Snows Are Thawing

In Moscow, snows were thawing in the streets under a benign spring sun. In Australia, leaves were turning under the fading warmth of an autumn sun. In all the great areas of the world, the warm and the cool, the dark and the light, humanity grew a little and died a little.

The sun rising over the Pacific burned off the early morning mists, turned lead-gray seas into sparkling turquoise, laced coral atolls in brilliant light and shadow and moved west. Toward Asia and Australia April 4 had begun.

In Tokyo, the day was bright and clear, and snow-capped Fujiyama was visible for miles. Whole families strolled in the parks, marveled at fresh bursts of pink cherry blossoms, picnicked, sang, danced, drank too much sake celebrating winter's end.

"Kamikaze" Taxis

Traffic was as incomprehensible as ever in the narrow, twisting streets jammed with pedestrians, with crazily loaded bikes, darting motor scooters and "kamikaze" taxis with a suicidal abandon.

In Los Angeles, the radios of shiny cars stretched bumper to bumper over the freeways blared calypso music, soap commercials and the news of new tornadoes in the South, a double murder in Florida and the mystery of the true identity of a movie writer who won an Oscar.

Along with the cherry blossoms, Japan's new baseball season had the nation buzzing. A pair of high school games drew 45,000 screaming fans. In Hiroshima, the first city in history to be hit by an atomic bomb, the Hiroshima Carp (Continued On Page 4)

PRICE FIVE CENTS

YARMARK TO APPEAL CASE TO STATE COURT

Ronald W. Yarmark, Aspers manufacturer sentenced to from three to six months in the county jail Saturday morning on charges arising from removal of his auto from the Epley garage here after it had been repossessed by a finance company, appealed his case to the Superior Court and as a result the jail sentence was set aside until after the Superior Court acts on the appeal.

Yarmark had been sentenced to from three to six months on a bribery of an employee charge and ordered to pay a $500 fine. He was also sentenced to from three to six months, to run concurrently with the other sentence, on a charge of removing the car from Pennsylvania. He was given a suspended sentence on approximately 11 other counts of the indictment on which he was found guilty by a jury in January term of court.

Shortly after the sentence was imposed Attorney Thomas Pyle, representing Yarmark, informed the court of his client's decision to appeal the entire case to the Superior Court. That served to hold up the actual carrying out of the sentence. Attorney Pyle said he planned to file the appeal with the Superior Court "as quickly as possible." The yearly return date listed by the Adams County prothonotary for the Superior Court was March 11. If the case has to wait the return date of next year, it will be next March before any action is taken.

Posts $5,000 Bail

Yarmark posted $5,000 bail to await the action of the Superior Court, and left the courthouse at noon.

Kenneth Orndorff, Gettysburg R. 5, who had been found guilty by a jury of resisting arrest and assault and battery last week, was given a suspended sentence by the court on payment of costs. The court noted it felt Orndorff, who had been arrested by Constable Fred Swisher on the charges following an incident at a Barlow Fire Hall dance, had "been punished enough."

Drivers Sentenced

John Edward Irwin, Pittsburgh, found guilty of driving while under the influence, was sentenced to 30 days in jail and was ordered to pay the costs and a fine of $150.

John A. MacDonald, Carlisle, was also sentenced to 30 days in jail and was ordered to pay a fine of $50 and costs on a charge of driving while under the influence.

The assault and battery charge brought against Martin E. Knox, Steinwehr Ave., by his wife, Frances M. Knox, was "not pressed" at the request of Mrs. Knox and he (Continued On Page 2)

The bride wore a white satin dress and white hat with a corsage of white and blue carnations. The couple were attended by Mr. and Mrs. William Weaver, Ronneville, at whose home a breakfast was held for the immediate families after the ceremony.

Automobiles provided by the Gettysburg Motors Inc. were used for the contest. State Policemen James J. Hydock, Borough Officer Raymond Menges, Park Guard Thomas R. Treher and John A. Baseore of the Junior Chamber of Commerce were the judges.

A 21-year-old Emmitsburg man was jailed in Waynesboro in default of $1,000 bond Saturday on charges of furnishing beer to minors after police stopped him for failing to stop his car at a newly-installed stop sign at an intersection.

Waynesboro police said they stopped Albert Abraham Hahn Friday evening after they observed that he failed to stop his car at the intersection.

Hahn was accompanied, they said, by four juveniles aged 16, 17 and 18. Several empty beer bottles were found in the car as well as 13 unopened bottles.

WEEKEND HIGH WAS 91 DEGREES

The mercury soared to 91 degrees here on Saturday and Sunday for the first "hot spell" of 1957 and the first time in 15 years in which 90-degree weather has occurred in Gettysburg in April.

Not since April 30, 1942, has there been a 90-degree reading in the traditional month of showers. On that date the high was 92 degrees.

But the weekend mark was far from setting a new Gettysburg heat mark for April. Back in 1915 on the 25th of April, there was a high here of 95 degrees, a record that has never since been topped.

Thundershowers in the area late Sunday afternoon and cool breezes from the west dropped the temperatures more than 30 degrees overnight.

Hail was reported in the Biglerville section on Saturday.

60 YOUNGSTERS RECEIVE FIRST HOLY COMMUNION

Sixty boys and girls received their first Holy Communion in St. Francis Xavier Catholic Church Sunday morning. It was the largest class of first communicants in the history of the church.

The youngsters, dressed in white, the girls also wearing veils, formed a procession from the school into the 9:15 o'clock Mass. The church was filled to overflowing for the service. Parents of children in the communion class occupied pews which had been reserved for them. Many in the congregation had to stand in the side and rear aisles and the front vestibule was filled to capacity. Some were unable to attend that service.

Rev. Fr. Anthony F. Kane, pastor, officiated and spoke briefly to the children and then addressed the parents on "Your Responsibility in the Future Lives of These Children."

KEEFER GOES TO NOON LUNCHEON AT HARRISBURG

County and district school superintendents, including C. P. Keefe, superintendent of Adams County schools, went to Harrisburg today to meet with Gov. Leader on his proposed college student expansion program.

The governor said the noon meeting at the Executive Mansion was set up as the first step to promote public support for the plan. The proposal would grant 5,000 state scholarships a year, provide loans to deserving students and establish a statewide network of junior colleges beginning in the 1958-59 school years.

But two Republican leaders voiced opposition to the measure as a "questionable" answer to the college student need and because it calls for a cent-a-bottle tax on soft drinks to provide the 35 million dollars required to start the plan.

Jordan Monarch Confers With King Saud; Tension In Amman Eases; Shoppers In Gay Mood

AMMAN (AP)—King Hussein returned to Jordan today after a surprise flying visit to Saudi Arabia's King Saud.

Apparently the young monarch wanted to find out what was said in his neighbor's conference Saturday with leaders of Egypt and Syria, and to patch up any crack the Syrian and Egyptian visitors might have opened between him and Saud.

Before taking off for Riyadh yesterday, Hussein rejected a previous government's proposal for diplomatic relations with the Soviet Union. The young ruler has blamed his country's current troubles on international communism, aided by Egyptian propaganda, and security forces have been busy rounding up Communist elements.

Holiday Mood

Almost a holiday mood prevailed in Amman as the curfew was lifted for eight hours, the longest out-of-doors period since the restriction and martial law were ordered last Thursday. The government announced the curfew would be raised entirely if

"THE SHIFTING CLOUDS"

In the shifting clouds I fancy many strange and wondrous things . . . and I marvel at the splendor . . . of what all their frolic brings . . . there are endless fields of clover . . . and a million daffodils . . . that burst in bloom, then disappear . . . like phantom whippoorwills . . . and I can often vision . . . a fleet of sailing ships . . . that move across an azure sea . . . on fascinating trips . . . there's magic in the heavens . . . for sometimes I behold . . . a face of just my liking . . . peer- ing from the mold . . . it seems as though another world . . . is fashioned in the sky . . . no doubt, imagination is . . . the only reason why . . . so when my heart is heavy . . . and life is filled with care . . . I watch the shifting clouds and build . . . dream castles in the air.

lady guest received a demitasse cup and saucer as a favor.

Music for the semi-formal affair was provided by the Maestri Orchestra, of Hanover. The Italian theme was carried out in the dance programs, which were made as scrolls, and also in the decorations. The background of the auditorium was designed as the entrance to a villa, with large pillars and many flowers. An overhead ceiling of blue was used, with twinkling stars, which were illuminated with the candles which formed the centerpiece of flowers for the small tables in the room. Potted palms were used in the courtyard of Koon's Florist.

Italian style refreshments were served by a group of tenth grade girls. The hostesses wore Italian garb of togas and sandals. The prom was arranged by the Juniors, and the junior class advisors are Mrs. Kay C. Sentz and H. Dean Stover.

Following the prom, the boys and girls were entertained at the Rolling Acres Elementary School cafeteria by the Littlestown Junior Chamber of Commerce. There was a snack followed with games and a full-length movie. Breakfast was served as the climax of the Jaycees party.

Dr. Howes Speaks
"Witness to Win — Teach to Enrich" was the theme of the convention and the guest speaker was the Rev. Dr. John Baxter Howes, professor of rural church at the Westminster Theological Seminary.

The program was as follows: Song service, in charge of the Rev. Porter W. Seiwel, pastor of Redeemer's Evangelical and Reformed Church; Scripture, the Rev. Mark B. Michael, superintendent of the Hoffman Orphanage, and the Rev. G. Howard Koons, pastor of Christ Evangelical and Reformed Church; vocal solo, "The Lord's Prayer," Clarence L. Schwartz Jr.; offering, the Rev. Rodney T. Yates, pastor of the host church; hymn and benediction, the Rev. David S. Kammerer, pastor of St. Paul's Lutheran Church, Mrs. Winfield A. Lippy, organist at St. Paul's Church presided at the console.

Signs of the Times" was the subject of the Rev. Dr. Howes' message, and he said that "every stubborn child presents a new challenge to church and Sunday School, which it must be in a position to meet." He noted that there is a decided change from agriculture to urban living and the church must welcome all newcomers and must take the lead in creative activities for young people during their leisure time. The speaker also told his audience that over 7,000 ministers are needed and that laymen should take more responsibility because there are fewer ministers. He suggested that the Sunday School teachers present a challenge to boys to enter the ministry as is done in other fields of endeavor. The Rev. Dr. Howes said that "Christ has no hands but our two hands and we become His hands when through our help people become the type of persons He wants us all to be."

The attendance banner was awarded to Centenary Methodist Church School for the largest percentage of attendance.

LOW BIDDER ON ROUTE 15 JOB

HARRISBURG — The Nello L. Teer Company, of Durham, N. C., Friday submitted the lowest bid at $3,165,482.31 to reconstruct to interstate highway standards a dangerous 6.19-mile stretch of U. S. Route 15 north from Dillsburg in York County to the Pennsylvania Turnpike.

The North Carolina firm, said to be one of the largest highway construction companies in the nation, was the lowest of five bidders.

The new section of four-lane, divided highway will be located from 500 to 1,000 feet east of the present two-lane road, and will by-pass the village of Shepherdstown. The project also involves construction of a seven-span, high-level, 73-foot bridge over the tracks of the Reading Railroad Company, the Yellow Breeches Creek, a mill race and a township road.

At present Route 15 runs under the railroad overpass and its winding approaches have been scene of many serious, frequently fatal traffic crashes.

The state Highways Department, which opened proposals for the project early Friday afternoon, indicated that an award will probably be made in two or three weeks.

SEVENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO
Ralph Waldo Emerson, the well known transcendental philosopher, died in Boston on Thursday of pneumonia, aged 78 years. He was a brilliant essayist and some years ago exercised a wonderful influence over New England's cultured thought. At no time however was he a popular writer, because of his peculiar style and involved philosophy.

Last week in plowing one of the Benner fields south of town several rebel bodies were found.

Today's Talk

INDIFFERENCE

It is indifference which is the cause of most of our unhappiness. Indifference to religion, to the happiness of others, and to the precious gift of freedom, and the wide liberty that is the inheritance of all in a free land.

Are we our "Brother's Keeper"? We certainly are! If we had no regard for others' feelings or fortune, we would grow cold and indifferent to life itself. Bound up with selfishness, we could not hope for the success that could easily be ours.

In one of the inspiring essays of Kahlil Gibran I came across these words: "If you bake bread with indifference, you bake a bitter bread that feeds but half man's hunger." Workers in an organization who work indifferently lose, very soon, what incentive they have, with their usefulness soon gone. Aliveness is the enemy of all indifference.

I once took a mother and daughter for a ride through a beautiful section of the country where I lived. I kept pointing out the fascinating sights that had always given me so much joy and satisfaction. The mother was deeply appreciative but the daughter said nothing. Suddenly a gorgeous sunset appeared and I asked the daughter if she didn't get a thrill out of it. Her only answer was, "I guess it's all right."

Indifferent persons never get anywhere. Their very thoughts are tinted with failure. Their favorite expression is, "I should worry." As a rule such people do worry, sooner or later—and plenty! Terence (185-159 B.C. said this: "I am a man, and nothing that concerns a man do I deem a matter of indifference to me."

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "That Sunshine Beam."

A Merited Promotion: We learn that Lieut. Luther W. Slater has been promoted to a position of higher grade in the surgeon general's office. Although a Virginian by birth he entered the service of the government when the rebellion broke out, joined Captain Mean's cavalry and was severely wounded. He happened to be in Gettysburg at the time of the invasion and, although severely wounded, he at once entered the service, joining a company made up largely of Pennsylvania college students. He married a Miss Yount, a Gettysburg lady.

Caught In Revolving Door

Koichi Nishimura, 7-year-old farm boy making his first visit to the big city, was caught in the first revolving door he had ever seen. It took firemen two hours to free him.

A Japanese professor warned that human life might be endangered by more nuclear tests. In Japan, on this day, 1,929 people died and 4,703 were born. One was a 7-pound boy, born at a Red Cross hospital to Nobuaki and Yoshiko Kawamura, at 12:31 a.m.

(In Boston, it was 10:31 a.m., April 3. Bill Murphy sat at his desk in the Massachusetts Electric Co., trying futilely to concentrate on his $7,000 a year job. His wife was pregnant and due.)

Kawamura, who is 32 and earns the equivalent of about $1,600 a year from his tiny motorcycle repair shop, does well by Japanese standards. He owns a small, four-room house, unpainted but neat. The kitchen has running water but the house has no toilet or bathing facilities. The Kawamuras use a public bath.

"His Last Child"

Kawamura said his new son probably will be his last child since Japan is overcrowded and "life will not be easy."

The sun beamed bright and clear over Sydney, and sports-mad Australians were trying to dope the "All Schools Head of the River" boat race two days hence. A welcome relief from continuing concern over the crisis at Suez, through which most of Australia's overseas trade passes to England.

Neither the weather nor the boat race comforted Lindsay Williams, 11, of suburban Brookvale. The boys at school were teasing him again that day. He ran away from home, leaving behind a cruelly revealing self-portrait. His sketch made his large ears much larger than they really are.

Children Without Shoes

On the drab, congested shore of Manila Bay, in a one-room fisherman's shack made of wood and galvanized iron, Mrs. Alejandro Pascual lay on a white sheet spread over a floor mat. She asked that her pillow be arranged so that she could watch the small Roman Catholic altar on the opposite wall. Her pains had begun at 8 p.m. The Pascuals have no beds. Their eight children have no shoes.

As was usually the case, the Pascuals dined that night on boiled rice, fish Alejandro had caught and a soup made of boiled sea shells picked up by the children. (Total cost, about 15 cents.)

(In Boston, it was now 7 a.m., April 4. In his 1950 Oldsmobile, Bill Murphy was driving to his office from the hospital where his wife, Mary, was now in labor. Her pains had begun at midnight, soon after they had turned off the TV set and gone to bed. And now, in the gray morning, it looked like a long wait. Bill Murphy thought he'd try to get some work done at the office.)

Calls For Midwife

When Mrs. Pascual's pains began, Alejandro put on an old white shirt and blue denim trousers and walked a block to a government health center. He returned with a licensed midwife and nurse, provided free by the government for the needy.

Five hours later Alejandro had a new son, who, he hoped, would grow up to be an auto mechanic — anything but a fisherman. The boy was named Irineo. He has a life expectancy of 56 years.

(In Atlanta, Ga., Homer Gibby, 41, post office employee, hoped that his new son would never have to support him in his old age. At 65 Gibby and his wife will receive about $160 a month in Social Security plus postal service pension.)

90 MINUTES OF
BALLET ON TV
THIS EVENING

By CHARLES MERCER
NEW YORK (AP)—Ninety minutes of ballet is coming to television tonight.

"Producers' Showcase" (NBC-TV) will present the Royal Ballet, formerly called the Sadler's Wells Ballet, in a performance of "Cinderella." Frederick Ashton's ballet to music by Serge Prokofiev. A company of 65 has been flown here from London for the performance.

Last season "Producers' Showcase" presented the same company in "The Sleeping Beauty." That ballet was happily received by a huge viewing audience — rather to the surprise of NBC.

Make Some Changes

Clark Jones, director for television of "Cinderella," says that each of its three acts will be introduced by less than a minute of commentary. Each act of "The Sleeping Beauty" was introduced with a simple little action intended to instruct viewers not well informed on ballet.

"In doing away with that this year," he said, "we're bowing to public preference. The public reaction was that it's unnecessary."

There are some unusual problems connected with staging ballet for television.

Some Problems

"There's an obligation on television to tell the story of a ballet clearly so that everyone can understand it, even though he never has seen ballet before," Jones said. "On the stage the ballet is not obligated to do this because it assumes a historical background ready knows the story well."

"Another problem is the change of space — from a wide lateral stage space to television space, which is a matter of depth. Instead of thinking of the wide stage of the theater, television must think in terms of a triangle with the camera at the apex. In this way, for example, two lines of six dancers each on the stage is changed to three lines of four dancers each."

"Sense Of Magic"

"Television can put the ballet in different areas with different effects. If we tried to duplicate

SCOUTERS PLAN
SUMMER CAMP

Eighteen members of Boy Scout Troop 89, York Springs, will be encamped at Camp Tuckahoe, in Site 8, July 28 to August 3. It was announced Friday evening at a meeting held in the Scout Cabin at York Springs.

Scout Field Executive Stanley C. Rogers said the York Springs troop is the first in the Black Walnut District to sign for summer camp at Tuckahoe so far this year.

The announcement was made at a meeting of 28 adults gathered at the Scout cabin for a first training session in anticipation of establishing a Cub pack at York Springs. William Kershner, chairman of the district organization and extension committee was in charge of the meeting assisted by Scout Executive Rogers and Neighborhood Commissioner Harry Guise. Training was on Scout games, the Cub pledge, the organization of the den and pack and the showing of a film on "What Cub Scouting Is." The adults will meet again next Friday for the second training session at 7:30 p.m. The third session will be held the following week.

the stage, it wouldn't be television. With special effects, lighting and electronics and the like, it gives a special sense of magic."

The ballet "Cinderella" follows the story line of the fairy tale. It will be interesting to compare tonight's performance of the old story with that of the recent "Cinderella" told on television in a different form — the musical.

Bullets Crush Dickinson 15-1 To Halt Losing Ways; Vince Scola Leads Attack triples and a double to pace a 12-hit attack as the Gettysburg College baseball team (2-6-1) snapped a six-game streak here Saturday afternoon in trouncing Dickinson (4-4) by a 15-1 count.

Johnny Schleicher hurled the route for the Bullets and gave up but six scattered hits.

Gettysburg took command in the first inning with three runs. Scola walked and sped home on Don Brandt's triple to right. Joe Robinski was hit by a pitched ball. On a wild throw to third base in an attempt to pick off Brandt, the runner scored and Robinski raced to third. Robinski tallied on Frank Capitani's grounder.

A walk to Campanelli and successive singles by Weaver and Woodruff produced the Red Devils' lone tally in the third.

The Bullets bounced back with five in the same frame. Larry Liedel walked and Leroy Bream singled. Both advanced on Art Hendley's sacrifice. Jack Bream walked to load the bases A wild pitch enabled Liedel to score and Schleicher's single sent L Bream home. Scola rapped his first triple as J Bream and Schleicher streaked home. Don Brandt's squeeze bunt sent Scola home.

Eleven Bullet players batted in the 7-run eighth. Five hits, two walks and an error produced the runs. Scola drove home two with his second triple and second hit on the inning. Capitani and Bobby Rohrbach each doubled home a pair of runs and Hendley smashed another double to drive home a run.

annual convention of the Harrisburg Diocesan Council of Catholic Women, to be held on May 6 in Gettysburg, announced that plans are nearing completion for the convention. Although the deadline for luncheon and banquet reservations has passed, it is still possible for local members to make reservations today or Tuesday, if desired. They should be made with the parish presidents and given to Mrs. Suerling not later than Tuesday.

Final Planning Meeting

The final planning meeting for the convention will be held on Thursday at 7:30 p.m. at Xavier Hall, Gettysburg, when Miss Gertrude Wright, Columbia, diocesan president, will be in attendance. This year's theme is "Mary-Like Women in Christ-Like Homes" and the convention is dedicated to Our Lady, Queen of Peace. All committee chairmen are to report at this final session, prior to the convention.

The Rev. Alexis Arnoldin, assistant pastor at St. Francis Xavier Church, was guest speaker at Sunday's meeting. Father Arnoldin was a student at the American College in Rome for four years, from the Harrisburg Diocese, and was ordained a priest at St. John Lateran, one of the four major basilicas in Rome. He spoke of the Holy City, relating both spiritual and humorous incidents during the time he spent there and showing pictures which he took there, one during the pronouncement ceremonies of the dogma of the Assumption of the Blessed Virgin Mary.

Fr. Arnoldin said: "Rome is a city of churches, with over 400 for a population of two million people." He described the magnificence of the basilicas and more especially that of St. Peter's. He concluded by saying that anyone considering a trip should consider Rome, because "there is absolutely nothing like the city of Rome."

Concluding prayers for vocations and for the success of the convention were led by Father Yeager. Refreshments were served by the hostess council to the approximately 75 members in attendance.

Jack Nelson of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., fourth in the Olympic 200-meter butterfly swim, formerly swam on the North Carolina freshman team.

ual opportunity for college" legislation. He said he will discuss the program with a number of groups following the initial meeting today with the superintendents.

"The governor's approach to our higher education needs is questionable," said Rep. Albert W. Johnson, in a weekend statement. "From the dollar standpoint, it becomes a matter of putting a new tax on the people."

"It is strange that the governor has sought to prove the sincerity of his proposal by endorsing a tax which he knows his own political party has constantly opposed by calling it a tax on kinds," Johnson said, adding:

"Every one of the thousands of taxes levied on the public today seem harmless by themselves. But stacked together, they represent a discouraging, crippling burden. A new state tax on soda pop or anything else this year would represent utter disregard of the people's right to decide matters on taxation for themselves."

Attack Give-aways
Rep. Norman Wood (R—Lancaster), chairman of the House Appropriations Committee, contended the plan "would aggravate rather than relieve the problems of our colleges and universities."

"If he (Leader) weren't so interested in promoting new give-away programs, he would come up with realistic suggestions that would help our colleges and universities to provide the facilities for the great increase in students which all the experts are predicting is on its way," Wood added.

The governor described the scholarship proposals as "the most important that will come to you (the legislature) in this session." He termed the plan "a conservation program in its truest sense."

HOPE ARDOR FOR BUDGET CUTTING HAS "COOLED"

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower's advisers were represented as hoping today that 10 days with the folks at home may have cooled somewhat the economy ardor of members of Congress.

Ending his Easter vacation, Congress goes back to work officially with most of Eisenhower's legislative program stalled. Eisenhower has been urged to take personal command of efforts to get it moving.

But whether there is any breakthrough seems likely to depend largely on just how intent Congress is on paring down the President's $71,800,000,000 spending budget.

Resigned To Some
Some of Eisenhower's close associates feel the drive to cut this budget has passed its peak. They base this in part, they say, on their belief that voters who want school construction aid, expanded health services, increased housing and development of natural resource projects are beginning to make themselves heard.

The House already has voted to reduce Eisenhower's requests for new money by $1,141,000,000 in eight annual appropriation bills. The Senate has not yet acted on any of these.

Eisenhower's advisers are resigned to the likelihood that his

HOUSECLEANING BY LABOR ASKED BY CC PRESIDENT

WASHINGTON (AP)—President John S. Coleman of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce said today any "cleaning" undertaken by organized labor should go beyond "sweeping out racketeering and violence."

He said labor unions voluntarily should end the secondary boycott, which he called a "ruthless labor blackjack," and should recognize that right-to-work laws "have a moral basis."

"And a full house cleaning job," Coleman added, "should demand that labor quit trying to create an all-powerful monopoly in a country that will not long tolerate monopoly of any kind."

Bears Down Heavily
Coleman, of Detroit, bore down heavily on labor matters in a prepared speech keynoting the 45th annual meeting of the Chamber, an organization of businessmen.

He related his discussion to recent disclosures by the Senate committee investigating alleged racketeering in labor and management. That committee has received testimony that some high officials of the giant Teamsters Union misused union funds and allied themselves with underworld elements. It also has heard accounts of labor union violence in some areas.

The AFL-CIO has started action that could lead to ouster of the Teamsters Union from the labor federation.

"Why Not Labor?"
Coleman, president of the Burroughs Corp., said he does not believe "we wish to see the labor movement suffer from the doings of a few leaders in whom the rank and file had mistakenly placed their trust."

"Labor and management should be friends," he said. "Together, we could advance the well-being of the country. It is foolishness to work at cross purposes."

Coleman said business has sought legislation that would treat it and labor "with unswerving impartiality." In this connection, he said, business has lived under the antitrust laws for decades and asked "Why shouldn't labor?"

Coleman noted that labor is "promising to reach for its own broom and sweep clean its house."

"But a full cleaning job will demand more than sweeping out racketeering and violence," he said.

Touche Education
"It should demand an end, by voluntary action, to the indefensible secondary boycott. A recognition that right-to-work laws have a moral basis."

Under a secondary boycott, a labor union attempts to win a dispute with one company by having employees of other firms refuse to handle the first company's goods.

Right-to-work laws, opposed vigorously by organized labor, bar the union shop, under which a worker must join a union within a specified time after going on the job. Eighteen states have enacted such laws.

Elsewhere in his speech, Coleman restated opposition to proposals for federal aid to education, which he termed the "issue of federalizing our public school system."

INTERNATIONAL FLAVOR
OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—When the St. James Episcopal Church decided to hold an "international bazaar," it didn't have to settle for imitations.

Ten foreign born women—all members of the church—cooked up dishes favored in their former homelands of Scotland, Ireland, France, New Zealand, Iceland, Australia, Germany, Holland and Japan.

$4,400,000,000 foreign aid program will suffer deep reductions, although they said Eisenhower will press for his full program.
